History is something that you should not only read about but most importantly be seen. Look at the number of tourists that have travelled overseas to the UK and European countries just to view the historical sights. Every state and every suburb in Australia needs to retain as much of its history as possible. Parramatta has already lost its charm due to the over development and this will continue until attitudes and policies are changed. Architects have the ability to design things that will enhance the old with the new. I don't want every city looking like every other city in the world ! History is important, whether it's good or bad. That's what history is. I want a government that respects our history and uses that to draw in locals and visitors to show and share what history Australia has. Stop the destruction of all historical sites !!!
